FOOD & BEVERAGE

Client: One of the Largest Food Distributors in North America

Project Value: $5M+ Ongoing, Multi-Phase Engagement

Regions: United States, Canada, Puerto Rico

Facility Size Range: 30,000–600,000 sq. ft.

Environment Types: Office, Ambient Warehouse, -15°F Freezer Zones

ComNet Communications has the pleasure of supporting one of the largest food distributors in North America, delivering new cabling installations and infrastructure refreshes across their vast network of warehouse distribution centers.

These facilities, operating 24/7, demand robust, high-performance networks to support wireless access, inventory systems, and operational communications—even in extreme environments such as sub-zero freezer storage.

Challenges

- Supporting operations across multiple temperature zones, including harsh freezer environments
- Minimizing disruption to ongoing distribution activities
- Standardizing delivery across facilities of vastly different sizes and layouts
- Coordinating projects across multiple regions with tight deadlines

Solutions

- End-to-End Project Management: ComNet assigns a dedicated Project Manager and delivery team to every site, ensuring consistency and accountability from kickoff to closeout.
- Wireless & Data Cabling: Installed and refreshed Cat6 and Cat5e cabling for wireless access points and data endpoints in offices, warehouses, and freezer zones.
- Fiber & Network Infrastructure: Provided fiber backbone installs, IDF/MDF cabinet installations, and rack-and-stack services to support expanding network needs.
- Seamless Execution: Worked closely with local facility leadership to align work with operational schedules and minimize business disruption.

Results

- Successfully delivered projects across dozens of locations throughout the U.S., Canada, and Puerto Rico
- Enabled improved wireless coverage and network reliability
- Maintained operational continuity in high-volume, fast-paced distribution environments
- Built a trusted partnership through consistency, responsiveness, and technical expertise
